Labour Relations Board

Labour Relations Board

The Labour Relations Board (the Board) was created in 1944 with passage of The Trade Union Act, S.S. 1944 (2nd Sess.) c. 69 (the Act). Although the Act has often been amended, most recently in 2008, the basic concept of the Board has not changed. The Board is an independent, quasi-judicial tribunal charged with the responsibility of adjudicating disputes that arise under The Trade Union Act and since April 29, 2014, The Saskatchewan Employment Act. It does this principally through public hearings and written decisions.

The Board’s decisions are final and binding upon the parties. There is no appeal, and review by the courts is strictly limited.

The Act presently provides for a board composed of a chairperson and up to two vice-chairpersons, and an unspecified number of members. All members of the Board, including the chairperson and vice-chairperson(s), are appointed by the Lieutenant Governor in Council. The chairperson and vice-chairperson(s) are full-time members of the Board. The remaining members are appointed and paid on a per diem basis when their services are required.

The Board is a representational Board. This means that all members of the Board, with the exception of the chairperson and vice-chairperson(s), are representatives of employees or employers. The chairperson and vice-chairperson(s) are neutral and are lawyers. The Board reports to the Minister of Labour Relations and Workplace Safety for the Province of Saskatchewan. The Minister is obligated by The Saskatchewan Employment Act to provide the Board with the requisite staff and facilities. The Board operates independently from the government, its departments and agencies. The chairperson, vice-chairperson and all members of the Board are required by the Act to take an oath of impartiality in the performance of their office.

The Board’s offices and staff are located at 1600 - 1920 Broad Street, Regina. The Board also maintains a hearing room in Saskatoon. The staff of the Board is composed of the Board Registrar, Senior Industrial Relations Officer/Investigating Officer, Executive Assistant to the Chairperson, an Assistant to the Registrar and two administrative positions. The chairperson is appointed to act as Executive Officer of the Board. An Organizational Chart of the Labour Relations Board is contained in Appendix A.

Labour Relations Legislation in Saskatchewan

In Canada, legislative jurisdiction over industrial relations has, since a ruling of the Supreme Court of Canada in 1925, fallen largely under provincial jurisdiction. Fortunately, the potential this presented for legal fragmentation was offset by varying combinations of inter-provincial management and union structures, common history and common day-to-day economic and political conditions. The result is a remarkable commonality of core principles and procedures in all 11 Canadian jurisdictions.

The main features of Saskatchewan’s current legislation, like its counterparts in all other Canadian jurisdictions, may be summarized as follows:

- ⇒ traditional courts are replaced by a specialized, quasi-judicial tribunal with exclusive and binding jurisdiction over the matters assigned to it by The Saskatchewan Employment Act;
- ⇒ common law of conspiracy and restraint of trade is abolished insofar as it applies to employees who bargain collectively;
- ⇒ the majority of employees determine for all employees in a group whether they will bargain collectively and, if so, through which union;

- ⇒ an employer is required to recognize the union chosen by the majority of its employees, as their exclusive representative for the purpose of bargaining collectively;
- ⇒ the employer and the union are required to bargain in good faith with a view to concluding a collective bargaining agreement;
- ⇒ a number of unfair labour practices are created to protect employees and unions from any attempt by the employer to interfere with their rights;
- ⇒ strike and lock-out activity is regulated, but not prohibited;
- ⇒ specific issues, such as union security, technological change, conciliation, voting procedures and religious exclusions are addressed; and
- ⇒ remedial and enforcement procedures are included in the statute.

In short, the Act continues to provide the legal framework for collective bargaining, along with a procedure for adjudicating disputes and enforcing rights and obligations. The Saskatchewan Employment Act, like its counterparts in all other Canadian jurisdictions, does not attempt to prohibit economic conflict between employees and employers, but only to control it. It does not attempt to regulate the outcome of collective bargaining, but merely the process to be followed.

The function of the Labour Relations Board within this statutory framework is to identify the parties which will participate in collective bargaining, and to monitor the procedural aspects of the bargaining process. Under The Saskatchewan Employment Act, the Board is not required to follow all of the formal rules of procedure that have been developed in courts of law.

The Board attempts to conduct its hearings in a way that will make them accessible to representatives of the parties who have no legal training, and which will allow the Board to identify the issues which are genuinely in dispute.

Budget Summary

The total budget of the Saskatchewan Labour Relations Board for the fiscal year ending March 31, 2015 was $1,081,000.00. The actual sum expended by the Board during the fiscal year was $883,400.44 representing an under-expenditure of 18.3 per cent compared to the budget. This is a year-over-year decrease in actual expenses of 5.4 per cent . The Board has been successful in refining its administrative processes while taking on additional responsibilities and doing so well under budget. The Board continues to display competence in its ability to manage resources efficiently. Given the reality that the Board is unable to control or predict the nature or number of applications put before it, the relationship of expenditure to budgetary allocation cannot be guaranteed from year to year, but is closely monitored. Various measures are ongoing in an effort to reduce budgetary demands and improve service to the stakeholders. During this past year, the Board has focused on improving its electronic database, an online resource which stakeholders can access on the Board’s website. The resource allows individuals, unions and employers to access their existing bargaining orders at any time, They can also amend or update their respective information, especially in light of the new legislation.

Summary of Board Activity for 2015-16

I am again pleased to present my annual report to the Minister of Labour Relations and Workplace Safety, the Legislative Assembly and to the people of Saskatchewan. This report contains a summary of the activities of the Saskatchewan Labour Relations Board for the 2015-16 fiscal year. During this fiscal year, The Saskatchewan Employment Act (Essential Services) Amendment Act came into force. That Act replaced The Public Service Essential Services Act and was passed in response to the ruling of the Supreme Court of Canada in Saskatchewan Federation of Labour v. Saskatchewan [2015] SCC 4 (CanLII).

This Act provides for the establishment of an Essential Services Tribunal comprised of the Chairperson or Vice-Chairperson of the Board and two nominees, one nominated from the Union or Employer involved in the dispute as to provision of essential services. It also provides for binding mediation should the Essential Services Tribunal determine that the right to strike by employees or the right to lock out by an employer has or would be substantially interfered with.

During this fiscal year, Vice-Chairperson Schiefner was seconded to a new role by the Government to that of part time Official Administrator for the Rural Municipality of Sherwood, No. 159. Vice-Chairperson Schiefner devoted approximately 32% of his available time to this role until his appointment as a Judge of the Provincial Court on November 13, 2015. The Board remained without a vice-chairperson until the appointment of Graeme Mitchell on March 1, 2016. I would like to thank Vice-Chairperson Schiefner for his work and wish him success in his new role as a Provincial Court Judge. The Board is honoured to have Mr. Mitchell as our new vice-chairperson. He brings considerable experience and expertise to the Board from his former roles in government, including his most recent role as the Director of the Constitutional Law Branch at the Ministry of Justice.

The Board received 276 applications/complaints in this fiscal year, a decrease of 1.8 per cent over the previous year. During the 2015-16 fiscal period, a total of 276 applications were received, and a total of 304 were disposed of either by the Board or through withdrawal or adjournment during the fiscal year. Another 173 matters remain in progress. Between April 1, 2015 and March 31, 2016, the Labour Relations Board sat for a total of 75 days, with 20 days in Saskatoon and 55 in Regina. During the course of 2015-16, 44 certification orders involving 848 employees were issued by the Board. The Board also rescinded 5 orders, affecting 49 employees. Tables 2 and 3 show these applications by type and disposition. The five-year trend is shown by disposition in Tables 4 and 5. Table 7 provides a complete listing of all 276 applications brought before the Board during the year.

In addition, the Board staff provided written responses to 1,256 electronic inquiries. This was in addition to the 432 inquiries by facsimile and through conventional letter.

The Board's decisions may be reviewed at the Board's website at www.sasklabourrelationsboard.com. Decisions are also published by CanLII at www.canlii.org/en/sk/sklrb/ as well as by several commercial publishers.
